

GLACIER PUBLISHING SERVICES

Glacier Publishing Services has a proven track record of providing quality publication services. Clients include trade and regional publishers, nonprofit associations, and self-published authors. Projects vary from schoolbooks for young children to highly technical volumes for the mining industry. Whatever the project, Glacier will exceed your expectations.

Jane Olivier owns and operates Glacier Publishing Services. The business is built on strong project management, a solid understanding of publishing, and more than 20 years of experience. Jane maintains extensive relationships with freelance professionals including editors, proofreaders, word processors, graphic designers, illustrators, compositors, and indexers. Skilled professionals are enlisted for specialized tasks on specific projects. Quality is dramatically improved when individual strengths are collectively utilized. The good news is that this also keeps costs down for the client.
